

LYNCH NEGRO WHO ATTACKED WOMAN, STABBED HUSBAND

Entered Home of A. H. C. Mann a Planter at Cedar Crossing.
WAS SHOT TO DEATH
BY A POSSE AT PETROS

Will Williamson Attacked Mrs.
Mann With Criminal Intent.
Husband, Who Heard Her Screams, Came to Rescue and Was Stabbed—No Hopes Entertained for His Recovery.

Vidalia, Ga., March 1.—Will Wil-lamson, a negro, was shot to death by a posse at Petros, a station on the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad 8 miles from this place, at 7 o'clock tonight.

Williamson entered the home of A.
H. C. Mann, a well-to-do planter at Cedar Crossings, at 1 o'clock this morning, attacked Mrs. Mann with criminal intent, and fatally wounded her husband when he came to her rescue from an adjoining room upon hearing the screams of the woman.

Mann was stabbed with a long-bladed knife in a number of places, and no hope is entertained for his recovery.

Shot to Death.

Bloodhounds were secured from this place shortly after the occurrence, and the negro was trailed to a turpentine distillery near the scene of the crime.
The neighborhood was quickly aroused and a posse began a search in every direction. Upon being discovered in an outhouse at Petros, the negro refused to obey the summons to halt, whereupon he was shot and the man fell lifeless.

The house was robbed by the negro before he entered Mr. Mann's room.

Owing to the prominence of the Mann family, indignation over the triple crime ran high practically every male inhabitant of the section of the county in which the crimes were committed joining in the search for the negro.

Williamson was well known in the community, and generally regarded as a dangerous character.

NEW YORK LAUDED BY ROLAND ELLIS

"Gotham Is Most Hospitable Place," He Says.

F. Hopkinson Smith's Utterances Meet Rebuke From Most Unexpected Quarter at a Banquet Given to Sons of Michigan.

New York, March 1.—F. Hopkinson
Smith's recent utterance that New York is the "most insolent city in the world" met denial tonight from an unexpected quarter. The man who takes issue with him is a southerner—Roland Ellis, of Macon, Ga., and a member of the lower house of the Georgia legislature.

Speaking tonight before 200 sons of Michigan at the sixth annual banquet
of the Michigan Society of New York,
Mr. Ellis said:

"My family has been coming here for the last six generations, and I have been coming here since my father gave me spending money. At a recent banquet in this city a speaker said something about this town. But let me say that New York is not a city of rudeness and insolence; Gotham is a most hospitable place. I come from the central south, where hospitality is noted, but when a man comes to this imperial city he breaks into a place where hospitality was born.

"I am no professional southerner.
Those people make me tired. Our flag is your flag; the flag of all America."

By a coincident F. Hopkinson Smith was the guest of honor tonight of the Aldine Association, at which 200 men of art, science and letters, topped by venerable John Bigelow and the southern author, Thomas Nelson Page, paid him tribute. The speakers all referred humorously to his fling at New York.

Bailey Sues Colored Fair.
Macon, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—
W. F. Bailey, president of the Ex-Slave Benevolent Association, an organization devoted to building and maintaining a home for indigent ex-slaves, has entered suit against the colored state fair association for $500 for alleged services and proceeds from the ex-slave day during the fair of last year at Central City Park here. He charges that he was engaged by President Wright to assist in "bringing large crowds to the fair and especially on ex-slave day, when there was a barbecue and other attractions for the benefit of the aged negroes." He now asserts that he was not paid.

SECRETARY WILSON TAKES LETTER TO SENATOR DOLLIVER THE CAUSE STAND AGAINST PINCHOT

Pinchot Had Asserted He Secured Permission of Secretary of Agriculture.
NEVER SAW THE LETTER AND NEVER HEARD OF IT
UNTIL READ IN SENATE

Washington, March 1.—The expected clash between Gifford Pinchot and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson over the disputed question as to whether or not the secretary had given the former forester permission to write to Senator Dolliver the letter which resulted in Mr. Pinchot's dismissal, came today before the Baillinger-Pinchot investigating committee.

Mr. Pinchot declared he had discussed the matter at length with Secretary Wilson and that he understood his superior officer had given him express permission to write the letter to Senator Dolliver.

Didn't Authorize Letter.

Secretary Wilson immediately took the stand and asserted that while he had given Mr. Pinchot permission to write the letter to Senator Dolliver concerning "departmental affairs," he never did and never would have given him permission to write a letter regarding the president of the United States.

Under a cross-examination, almost wholly by the democratic members of the committee, Secretary Wilson was uncertain as to just what had passed between himself and the forester and became somewhat mixed at times as to just what letters the committee were referring to in their rapid fire cross-examination.

Wilson Plainly Aggrieved.

The elderly secretary of agriculture,
who holds all records for cabinet service, was plainly aggrieved when he took the stand. Mr. Pinchot had been reluctant to testify to anything that would bring him into controversy with the chief under whom he had served twelve years. But Chairman Nelson insisted he should go into the matter.

Mr. Pinchot declared that he and Secretary Wilson went so far as to discuss the executive order issued by President Taft forbidding subordinates of the various departments from giving information to congress, and he added that the secretary said:
"You and I will have no trouble about that order."

Admitting that his memory failed him as to certain points, Secretary Wilson always came back with the statement that he never, under any circumstances, would have given Mr.
Pinchot permission to write the letter which caused his dismissal from the service.

Only Pinchot's Idea.

"But," persisted counsel for Mr.

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE
DRIVEN FROM HOUSES

Exact Number of Deaths Will Not Be Known Until Summer
Suns Melt Snow and Ice in Canons—Half-Dozen Transcontinental Railroads Suffer Heavy Losses.

Ogden, Utah, March 1.—Flood conditions almost unprecedented have almost cut off the northwest and tied up traffic on half a dozen transcontinental railroads. Thaws in the mountains have caused avalanches that have swept away mountain towns and sections of railroad tracks in various places from Nevada to British Columbia.

The exact number of deaths caused by avalanches in the Rockies in Idaho and in Western Montana probably will not be known until the summer sun melts the great masses of snow and ice in the canons into which several mining towns were swept.

In the Cascade Mountains in Washington a Great Northern train with 30 to 40 passengers is reported buried under a snow slide. Four transcontinental lines into Washington and Oregon are blocked. Only one railroad is operating into Salt Lake City. Several hundred westbound passengers are held in Ogden.

Through traffic on the Oregon Short Line was suspended today, but will probably be resumed tomorrow.

The Denver and Rio Grande is the only road entering Ogden that reports through trains in operation. Representatives from the flooded districts in Nevada say the water is higher than in forty years.

Nineteen Lives Lost.
Spokane, Wash., March 1.—In this mining district 19 lives are known to have been crushed beneath ice and snow that swept down the mountain sides upon the villages of Mace and Burke.

So far 30 men, women and children have been saved from the Mace slide, and the rescuers are working desperately.

WITH SMILES AND CIGARS YOUNG WOMEN OF MOBILE BRIBING MALE EDUCATORS

Indianapolis, Ind., March 1.—While smiling young women school teachers of Mobile, in the lobby of the assembly hall of the department of superintendence of the National Educational Association today offered to the men delegates cigars, with the words
"Smoke on Mobile," in the hope of winning next year's convention for the southern city, the gathering of a thousand educators with windows enthusiastically applauded Horace H. Cummings, of Salt Lake City, when he declared that none of the teachers in the high schools of his city smoked.

Mr. Cummings, in discussing "Methods of Reducing Moral Truths to Practice," said that the child is a doer rather than a thinker, and its prime instinct is for imitation. The morals of a school city, where teachers drink, smoke, gamble, or are insincere, the speaker said, cannot be on a high plane.

Participation by children in school government was advocated by Walter F. Lewis, of Port Huron, Mich., as a stimulus to the conception of morality.
He was not enough, he said, that pupils should obey the arbitrary rulings of the teachers. There should not be two standards of conduct. In the interest of good citizenship, Mr. Lewis declared, the school children must be brought to an understanding that the genuine happiness of the community depends on each individual's devotion to its moral welfare.

United States Senator Albert J. Reveridge tonight addressed the convention on "The School and the Nation."

SENATOR BEN TILLMAN MAY COME TO ATLANTA

Washington, March 1.—Senator Ben jamin R. Tillman, who is slowly recovering from the attack of paralysis which recently threatened his life, is to be removed to his home or to Atlanta, Ga., as soon as his condition will permit, probably within three weeks. His wife and two daughters will accompany him. As soon thereafter as possible Senator Tillman will go to some health resort in Europe and seek complete recovery.

GOVERNMENT WILL MARK BATTLEFIELD AT ATLANTA

By John Corrigan, Jr.
Washington, March 1.—(Special.)—
The battlefield of Peachtree Creek will be marked by the government. This was practically assured by the promise made to Representative Livingston by Chairman Hull, of the house committee on military affairs, that the committee would favorably report his bill having this object.

The amount to be authorized for this purpose is $2,000. If the measure can be gotten through the house, Senator Bacon feels no doubt that he will be able to secure favorable action in the senate.

STORES TO BE BUILT ON HOUSTON WILL OPEN NEW BUSINESS DISTRICT

The completion of a number of real estate deals on Houston street, between Pryor and Courtland streets, have opened up that thoroughfare to the business interests of Atlanta, and marks the beginning of what promises to be a thriving commercial center.

R. Blair Armstrong has completed plans for the erection of a two-story concrete building on the south side of Houston street, about 150 feet from Pryor, on the property recently secured by him from Jasper Smith on a 99-year lease. The construction of this building will be such as to allow four more stories to be added.

This property will have a frontage of 100 feet on Houston street and will run back 80 feet in one part and 100
in another.

Bids for excavation will be opened within a few days, and the work will be begun at once.

The Solomon Norcross Company are the engineers in charge, and the architectural details will be looked after by Norman, Hentz & Reid.

This building will be thoroughly modern. When completed it will have a system of electric elevators for passenger and freight transportation, and will be heated by steam.

As parts of the building have already been leased to two concerns who are anxious to take possession as soon as possible, the building work will be pushed rapidly.

Further development of Houston
street on both sides is contemplated.
Stores in the building to be erected by Mr. Armstrong are already being asked for, and a number of merchants in town have been casting their eyes in that direction looking for desirable lots.

It is understood that Rosser & Brandon are considering the erection of a building at the southwest corner of Ivy and Houston upon a lot now owned by them.

Besides this, a number of places of property between Ivy and Courtland have been sold within the last thirty days, and upon which improvements are contemplated.

GEORGE MURRAY ATTACKS MOON

Desperate Fight Ends in Police Cases.

Misunderstanding Presence of Charles Moon in His Home,
George Murray Uses His Fists
on Visitor—Mrs. Murray Is Struck in Face.

As the result of a thrilling fight in the home of George Murray, 48 South Jackson street, shortly after 8 o'clock last night, in which Mrs. Murray received a blow in the face and Charles Moon of 175 Kennedy street was badly beaten. Both men were served with copies of charges for their appearance before the recorder Thursday afternoon.

The difficulty was the result of a misunderstanding on Murray's part of Moon's presence in his home. Murray not knowing that the latter came purely on a business errand with him.
Both men are good friends and are in business together. Moon being a cabinet maker and Murray working in conjunction with him in the decorating trade.

Returned for His Music.

Murray is a musician also, and had an engagement to play at the Army hall on West Mitchell street. He forgot a piece of music and returning home to get it, found Moon inside the front door, talking with Mrs. Murray.
Moon had arrived only a few seconds, and was being informed by Mrs.
Murray that her husband was not at home, when Murray walked up the front steps. Without waiting for an explanation, he is charged, Murray walked past Moon, who was leaning near the door by the hat rack, and struck his wife down with his fist.

After the fight Murray realized his mistake, according to his statement to the police, and deeply regretted the whole affair. The matter was taken up with Assistant Police Chief Jett, who decided that both men should be served with copies of charges.

Moon bled freely from the wounds about his face, but although he will carry a swollen cheek for several days,
his injuries are not serious.

Murray says he did not know whom he was fighting and that he accidently struck his wife.

Name Date for Primary.

Barnesville, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)
The Pike county democratic committee met in Zebulon today and called the primary for Wednesday, May 4. Indications point to an unusually large number of candidates. So far no one seems to care to go to the legislature, but there will be two or more for all county offices.

CORPORATION TAX SWAMPS FORCE

No Figures Available at Collector's Office.

Thousands of Letters Now Being Sorted by Clerks, and Everybody Is Working Overtime to Get the Big Task Completed.

On a half dozen desks in the offices of the internal revenue collector in the federal building there are now piled thousands of letters—maybe as many as six thousand—which are being listed by the clerks who have been working from eight to nine hours
a day during the past week.

These are the returns of the annual net income of the miscellaneous corporations of this district, remarked Collector Rucker.

Ten days ago little attention was paid to excise tax, but about that time a publication in The Constitution seemed to arouse the corporations throughout the district and since Friday of last week these returns have been trooping in until the receipts reached a thousand a day—that number being exceeded Monday. Tuesday, the last day, brought the greatest number since the heavy influx of the mail.

So rapidly did the receipts come that the collector found it necessary to utilize every member of his staff in arranging and classifying the returns. The collector directed all mail to be delivered at his desk and as he opened these he parcelled them out to various desks for disposition.

What the Returns Show.

The returns, all in blank form, sent out by the government upon application, when properly filed were returned. They indicated the home of the corporation, bank, insurance company or whatever it might have been.
They showed the capital, amount of paid up stock outstanding at the close of the year, and the total bonded or other indebtedness and the gross income. Then the total deductions or expenses for the same period of time are presented. This statement must be certified to by the officers of the corporations before a notary public,
the sheet being a complete history of the organization with its every detailed operation presented in aggregate.

Every feature of this presentation must be carefully revised and recorded by one of the clerks in the internal revenue office so that the information can be transmitted to Washington.

Tuesday was the last day for a corporate body to send in returns to the collector of internal revenue, the law providing that returns are receivable up to midnight March 1.

It may take several days to compile the information now in the hands of the collector. But he has been working industriously on those in hand as fast as they came in and the mass will be cleared away as rapidly as the overworked force can accomplish the task.

Tax Payable in June.

Now comes the payment of taxes on these returns. These taxes must be paid on or before June 3, in order to avoid a penalty of 50 per cent. In making payment of taxes the remit-

SCORE KILLED BY AVALANCHE

Two Great Northern Trains Overwhelmed.

Most of the Dead Are Believed to Have Been Passengers on the Westbound Great Northern Express—Twenty Bodies Have Been Recovered.

Seattle, Wash., March 1.—Sweeping down the steep mountain side on the west slope of the Cascades at dawn
this morning, an avalanche of snow overwhelmed two Great Northern trains, three locomotives, four huge electric motor engines and brought death to more than a score of persons, according to meager reports that have drifted in from Wellington, a station near the scene of the disaster.

Most of the dead are believed to have been passengers on the westbound Great Northern express bound from Spokane to Seattle, which has been stalled in the mountains since last Thursday. They were asleep when the slide came.

Twenty Bodies Recovered.
The other train was the transcontinental fast mail, which carried no passengers. Twenty bodies have been recovered, fifteen or twenty persons are injured and twenty-five are missing.
The two trains were in charge of Conductors Parzybok and Pettit, both of Everett. The fate of the train crews is unknown.

The private car of Superintendent
O'Neill, of the western division of the Great Northern, was attached to the express and buried with the rest of the train.

It is feared C. A. Longway, private secretary to Superintendent O'Neill, is among the dead. O'Neill, who has been directing the fight against the snow blockade for the last ten days, was killed in the car at the time and escaped injury.

The trains were overwhelmed near the west portal of the Cascade tunnel.
All telegraph wires are down to within fifteen miles of the slide and it has been impossible to obtain the names of the dead and injured.

As soon as word of the disaster reached Everett, the Great Northern division point, one hundred miles west, a rescue train with physicians and nurses started for the scene. This was followed by a second rescue train carrying undertakers, wrecking outfits and laborers, which left Everett at 8 o'clock tonight. As sections of the railroad tracks have been carried away farther down the mountains,
the rescuers couldn't get within fifteen miles of Wellington and had to make the rest of the distance from scenic a station 2,000 feet below the tunnel, by foot through the mountains. By making a trail, they can cut this distance to three miles.

Checks must be by postoffice money order, express money order or a check certified by the bank on which it is drawn and must be payable to the internal revenue collector in Atlanta.
An uncertified check can under no conditions be accepted.

The checks paying the taxes must read for the assessment on the profit, the gain or excess—and not on the capital stock.

MUSICAL DEPUTY PLAYED UP BIDS FOR OLD PIANO

GEORGIA CAMP MEETING
BETTER THAN OLD HYMN

Only $5 Was Offered Until Deputy Took Stool—"Nearer,
My God, to Thee," Brought First Raise—"Camp Meeting" and National Aids Did the Rest.

By Tom Bryson.

Because Deputy Sheriff J. W. Chambers is "some musician," Sheriff Man-gum was yesterday able to sell for an even 100 plunks a piano for which he would have been forced to take considerably less had it not been for the deputy's ability to "paw the ivories."
Crying bids to the tune of "Georgia
Camp Meeting," "Hot Time," "Mollie Put the Kettle On" and other sub-limating ditties is a new one on the sheriff, but he's more than willing to become accustomed to it if the music brings the coin as it did on this particular occasion.

There was a piano to be sold at the sheriff's sale. It was a good-looking instrument, but, apparently, the majority of those in attendance were not musically inclined. At any rate, when the sheriff attempted to get bids on the instrument, they were woefully slow coming. At last some one did pluck up sufficient courage to offer $5.
The sheriff looked distressed.

"Why, gentlemen, he complained,
"it's worth more than that for junk.
Hasn't anybody here a wife, daughter,
sister, sweetheart or mother-in-law that can 'strike a tune'?" It's worth that $5 just to amuse the baby."

Sheriff Was in Despair.

Evidently, there wasn't any baby,
and those present didn't care a hang whether or not the mother-in-law ever played another tune till she received her "harp of gold." More bids were not forthcoming.

The sheriff was in despair, and so were his deputies until Deputy Owens raced into the court house and came back with Deputy Chambers in tow.
"Give us a tune," he ordered, as he shoved Chambers down upon the piano stool.

"Nearer, My God, to Thee," will about strike 'em right," spoke up the sheriff, who is a Methodist steward.
The crowd stood in silence as the notes of the grand old hymn floated out into the busy street.

"Seven dollars and a half," piped up a man in the crowd as the tune was finished.

The sheriff looked about to faint.
Horror stood out on his face like the bumps on an artichoke.

"Anybody'd think you valued that grand old hymn at $2.50," he finally managed to gasp.

The crowd laughed unfeelingly, and the man who had made the bid looked embarrassed.

"Georgia Camp Meeting."

"Give 'em something sorter lively," ordered Deputy Owens, turning to Chambers. The musician bowed silently and the devilish, stirring strains of "Georgia Camp Meeting" began chasing themselves off up the street.

"Twenty-five dollars," yelled a man in the crowd, beginning to see visions of the old tent, the plank seats, the crowds and the mourners' bench filled to overflowing.

"Fifty dollars."

"Fifty dollars," came another bid.
"Fifty-five," came back the campmeeting enthusiast as the deputy wound up the production with a flourish. But there the bidding stopped short, and in spite of the sheriff's most heroic efforts, no one would offer more.
At last he hesitated a moment, stroked

Hands and Arms In Dreadful State With Eczema—Baby Lay Between Life and Death.

Another Wonderful Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema. The doctor said he would soon be all right, but he steadily grew worse and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema seemed to be spreading all over his body. His face was so sore, we were obliged to put a mask or cloth over it. We were obliged also to tie up his hands and arms, to prevent him from scratching the inflamed places. We consulted other doctors, used ointments and salves sent us by friends and neighbors. Some of these things he would seem to have some effect, but after a few days would act like a poison, and increase this stubborn disease.

"Just one year ago this month baby lay between life and death. We felt that we must give up trying to find any cure or relief. Our hearts were just breaking, and we had the sympathy of friends and neighbors. Finally my husband said, 'I am going to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Olive Ointment.' We began to use these medicines and oh! the results were astonishing. In a few months he was entirely free from that terrible eczema, which had caused him so much suffering. Today he is a fine, healthy boy." Mrs. Inez Lewis, Baring, Me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than twenty different ingredients, each greatly strengthened and enriched by the peculiar combination. These ingredients are the very remedies successful physicians prescribe for the same diseases and ailments, but they are not all found in any other medicine. Get his board meditatively and then ordered his musician to "give me some good old-fashioned dance piece."

Instantly the strains of "Mollie, Put the Saddle on the Old Gray Mare" began skipping and skedaddling through the halls of the solemn old courthouse. Scores of feet in the crowd began to pat time.

"Sixty dollars!" yelled a "patter" above the commotion.

"Seventy-five," came an answering shout from the other side of the crowd.

"Keep her rolling, old man, and we'll run the blamed thing up to a million," shouted another.

Sheriff Was Putting, Too.

"Seventy-five! Seventy-five! Seventy-five! Seventy-five dollars," chorused the sheriff. "Are you going to let a piano that's got that sort of music in it go for $75? Seventy-five, seventy-five."

"Look at him! Look at him!" someone yelled, "he's patten' too."

And sure enough, he was. The gay old dance tune of the days gone by had quickened the blood in his veins and he was unconsciously keeping time to the music.

The deputy had now entered into the spirit of the occasion and when "Mollie" had finally saddled the flea-bitten plug to the satisfaction of all, the more dignified but no less stirring strains of "Der Wachen am Rhein" floated over the crowd.

"I'll give eighty-five dollars," shouted a former subject of the Kaiser as he shoved his way to the front of the crowd.

The sheriff began crying the bid, while the tune changed and "The Wearing of the Green" set every son of Erin shouting.

"The faith, O'ill make it was 'undred plunks and he burned to yez, yer bloody Doochman," yelled a man with a face like a map of the Emerald Isle. The crowd yelled its approval.

How long the contest for the second-hand piano might have gone on had the music continued cannot be known, but at this juncture the impromptu musician announced that he had "played out."

With no more music to inspire them, the bidders lost interest and the piano was sold for an even $100.

COLUMBUS PLANS FOR EXPOSITION

L. A. Camp, a Prominent Contractor, Is Elected President.

Columbus, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—The interstate exposition that Columbus is planning for next fall is now in full swing and indications point to the most successful entertainment of the character in the history of the city.

The Chattahoochee Valley Interstate Exposition company, which was recently granted a charter, has fully organized for the purpose for which it is created and has already entered with enthusiasm into the details of the work.

At a meeting of the board of directors last night the permanent officers were elected as follows: President, L. A. Camp; vice president, J. C. Alexander; secretary, C. B. Grimes; treasurer, Rhodes Browne.

PARK MATTERS ARE CONSIDERED

Board Transacts Great Deal of Business.

Grant Memorial Not Satisfactory—Golf Link Planned for Piedmont Park—General Manager to Have Term of Office. Other Matters of Importance.

An important session was held by the park commission yesterday afternoon, and several matters of interest were disposed of.

The commission took up the Grant memorial, and it was the opinion of a majority that the memorial selected might be improved upon. The special committee of three was requested to confer with the council committee and ascertain if another design could not be secured.

A committee of citizens appeared before the commission and urged that the golf links at Piedmont park be retained and improved. John E. Murphy, Charles E. King, Aaron Haas, John J. Eagan and others spoke for the links, and stated that a golf course in Atlanta meant much for the city as a point of interest to tourists. The following special committee was appointed to take the matter up: Commissioners Evans, Hurst and Harwell.

Ready to Remove Tracks.

President Arkwright, of the Georgia Railway and Electric Company, appeared before the board and stated that his company was ready and willing to remove the tracks on the east side of Piedmont avenue at Piedmont park.

On motion of Mayor Maddox, the general council will be asked for the $4,370 from the sale of the old buildings at Piedmont park for the erection of a public comfort building at the same park.

General Manager Carey reported that he had visited Chicago, Cincinnati and New York, looking for a keeper of the zoo. He mentioned three men who were available, and he was instructed to secure Billie Snyder, of New York, if possible, at a salary of $100 a month.

Alderman John A. Candler appeared before the commission and stated that the ordinance committee of council had agreed upon a report to make the term of office for the general manager of the park commission to be held in December of this year.

For Roadway in Piedmont.

A motion was adopted instructing the general manager to secure bids for making the roadway in Piedmont park opposite the Piedmont avenue entrance.

The general manager was instructed to secure bids for estimates for playground outfits for all the playgrounds that the city will maintain this year.

The general manager reported that he had made satisfactory arrangements for the removal of the Twelfth, Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets opposite Piedmont park.

The general manager reported that he had secured the use of old Brinslie park as a city playground.

On the recommendation of President Eubanks, the board adopted a resolution to do away with the drinking fountains in the parks and substitute the new fountains, which are said to be perfectly sanitary. These fountains can be used for drinking purposes without dippers of any kind.

MRS. HOLMES SELLS CALLED TO BEYOND

Pioneer Atlanta Woman Died at Advanced Age in Pennsylvania.

Pioneer Atlantans will learn with sorrow of the death of Mrs. Holmes Sells, the wife of Dr. Holmes Sells, which occurred at the old family home, Davisville, Pa., on the 20th of February.

Mrs. Sells passed away at the advanced age of 83. She was for many years a resident of this city, having lived here prior to, during the civil war and some years after its close. She saw Atlanta grow from little more than a village in the fifties to a city of many thousands.

Dr. and Mrs. Holmes Sells had a very large circle of friends among the older citizens, and in the old days were among the most popular, prominent and highly esteemed of the citizens of the growing town.

During the bombardment of Atlanta in 1864 the Sells family, as did many other families, was compelled to seek safety from the missiles of war in the cellar of their home.

No nobler or more charitable, more estimable lady ever adorned society than Mrs. Holmes Sells. In those days no resident of the city was better known for deeds of kindness and helpfulness. At one time she was the honor order president of St. Philip's Hospital Aid Society, and during the dark days of the sixties there was no more earnest, devoted worker in the hospitals of this city. Her work was a labor of love for the suffering, and cheerfully, her intelligent aid was given alike to the confederate and federal sick and wounded soldiers.

Two bridesmaids who were at her wedding also attended her funeral. They are aged 82 and 85 years.

She is survived by her son, John Sells, an old Atlanta boy, who numbered his friends here by the score in the old days. He has for years been prominent in public-spirited citizens, has long since passed away.

Dr. Holmes Sells, who in his day was one of Atlanta's most intelligent, prominent and public-spirited citizens, has long since passed away.

Deaconess Henry, who has been a missionary in India for six years, will address the women of St. Philip's cathedral, corner of Hunter and Washington streets, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. All the women of the congregation are urged to be present.

DEPARTMENTS GOVERNMENT

Secretary Wilson TAKES STAND

Pinchot, "if Mr. Pinchot was to be permitted to write about departmental matters, how could you have thought this letter would blanket the president's message?"

"I don't know. That was Pinchot's idea."

In reply to Attorney Pepper, Secretary Wilson said he would have forgiven Mr. Pinchot for his assumption of authority to discipline subordinates of the forest service, but that he could not forgive the aspersions on the president.

Could Not Get Hearing.
"Mr. Pinchot complains that he did not get a hearing by the president," added Secretary Wilson. "He shut the door himself when he sent that letter to Senator Dooliver."

"Did you tell Mr. Pinchot regarding the order of the president, forbidding subordinates to give out information, that you and he would have no trouble about it?"

"That is all new to me. I don't say that I am now ready to reply to Mr. Pinchot's request to send a letter regarding departmental affairs."

Secretary Wilson was interrogated by the democratic members as to his recollection of instructing Mr. Pinchot to strike out of a letter of transmittal all reference to the Dooliver letter. The secretary insisted he did not remember this and that he did not remember whether or not Mr. Pinchot had dictated the letter over again in his office.

Senator Purcell, of North Dakota (democratic), asked Secretary Wilson, if he had not specifically talked over the Dooliver letter with Mr. Pinchot. The secretary declared he had not.

"Do you think I would have agreed," he demanded, "that I should insult the president of the United States and exercise my authority over subordinates?"

The day was replete with interest. The cross-examination of Mr. Pinchot was begun late in the afternoon and will be continued when the committee meets again Friday.

Mr. Pinchot denied that he had been emboldened by the success of his first consideration was not justified. He denied also that there was a specific movement to discredit Mr. Ballinger. He added, however, that he and former Secretary Garfield, Glavis and others were concerned in a movement for the conservation of natural resources and that he regarded Mr. Ballinger as one of the greatest enemies of that movement.

SAWMILL MEN MEET AT TIFTON

Favor Adoption of Odd Lengths.

Twenty-Four Sawmills Were Represented at the Meeting of the Georgia-Florida Saw- mill Association Held at Tif- ton on Yesterday.

Tifton, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—Twenty-four of the largest sawmills in Georgia and Florida, and with an invested capital of near $100,000,000, were represented at the meeting of the Georgia-Florida Sawmill Association held in the parlors of the Myron hotel this morning.

President H. H. Tift, of Tifton, called the meeting to order at 11 o'clock. The committee on the establishing of the Southern Pine Inspecting Bureau reported.

A conference was held in Savannah, February 12, with representatives of eastern lumbermen, and these, after discussing the matter with their people, will meet with representatives of the association at Jacksonville, March 15. It is hoped by the establishment of this bureau to maintain a uniform inspection which will be recognized as a standard both by the buyer and seller, and by which all differences may be adjusted.

Favor Odd Lengths.
Mr. Leggett reported for the committee on odd lengths; a majority of the favored their adoption. As the matter is now before the North Carolina Lumber Association and the Yellow Pine Manufacturers' Association, definite action was postponed. The secretary, however, was instructed to write the other associations that the adoption of odd lengths was favored, and that this association wanted to cooperate with them. This prevention of waste is in line with the government's policy of forest conservation, to which the lumbermen were pledged.

Reports of members show an optimistic feeling, a confidence in the market and inquiries fair. An advance in prices reported at the February meeting had been sustained during the month and the market had a steady upward tendency. Some members report the labor situation had for the first time since 1906, and a shortage is feared, owing to farm development and other industrial activity.

Care Hard to Get.
For the first time in years cars are hard to get, and it was feared that as shipments increased, car shortage would again become a distressing factor.

The next meeting will be held in Jacksonville on Tuesday, April 5.

Tonight Tifton lumbermen and citizens were hosts at a banquet to the visitors. The menu was a typical southern dinner, being printed on yellow pine boards.

A Short Story About Senator Chauncey M. Depew

Some time ago a New York merchant called at our office. He told us that Senator Depew, one of his customers, had spoken to him of the many improvements embodied in the "ONOTO" SELF-FILLING FOUNTAIN PEN, and that from the senator's enthusiastic comments regarding the article, he felt that the "ONOTO" should be included in his fountain pen stock. This prompted us to write a letter to Senator Depew, requesting the privilege of using his name. He told us in reply that he had no objection to our stating that he was an "ONOTO" user.

There are four styles, ranging in price from $2.50 to $5.00. Fifteen kinds of pen points—a nib to suit every hand.

LAW WAS VIOLATED BY CITY ORDINANCE

Supreme Court Knocks Out Meat Inspection at Augusta.

Ruling that the appointment of an inspector to open cars of meat, examine the same and charge so much per hundredweight for making the examination, was an interference with the interstate commerce laws, the supreme court yesterday reversed the decision of the Richmond county superior court in the case of Armour & Co., versus the city council of Augusta.

At a meeting of this body in 1909 an ordinance was passed creating the office of "packing-house inspector," whose duties should be to make examination of every car load of meat which came into Augusta, in order to see that it was pure; also that the company whose meat was inspected should pay to the inspector 20 cents for each beef carcass and ten cents per hundredweight for beef cuts, fresh meat and other meat stuffs.

The Armour Co. filed a petition to enjoin the enforcement of this ordinance, claiming that under an act of congress in 1906, which was exclusive and sweeping in its ruling that all meat should be inspected by federal inspectors, this was illegal.

The Richmond county court denied the injunction.

Armour Company then carried the case to the court of appeals, who reversed the decision of the lower court.

The contention of Armour & Co. in regard to the act of congress of 1906 was sustained. The court ruled that though it was legal and right that a municipality should protect itself from decayed meats, and place a ban upon any unsanitary foods, that the specific act of the council which created an inspector of meats to examine all meats, whether killed in Augusta or not, was interference with interstate commerce and therefore illegal.

SAVANNAH RIVER RISES THREE FEET

Augusta, Ga., March 1.—The Savannah river began to rise rapidly this morning, going up three feet from 8 to 10 o'clock. At noon it was twenty-two feet and rising eight inches an hour.

Very heavy rains are reported in the watershed and further rises are expected until Wednesday, when the local forecaster of the weather bureau says the maximum will be thirty to thirty-two feet. The latter figure is the flood stage, though it would mean inundation for only a small portion of the outskirts of the city. It is still raining up country.

250 ARE ARRESTED IN "TIGER" RAIDS

Fines Assessed at Danville for Violating Law Amount to $9,000.

Danville, Ky., March 1.—Recent raids on "blind tigers" in Danville and vicinity have resulted in more than 250 arrests, with convictions in 155 cases and fully 100 more to be tried. Fines already assessed for violations of the liquor laws aggregate $9,000, and workhouse sentences amounting to 2,000 days have been imposed.

Danville is one of Kentucky's "dry" spots, and in the effort to enforce the laws even the trains are watched. When persons arrive who, to the town authorities bear a resemblance to "boot-leggers," they are searched before being allowed on the streets. Private flasks are frequently confiscated, and in cases where the "flask" has been unusually large, the owners have been added to the overflowing population of the town jail.

TO NAME HARLEM STREET FOR "TEDDY" ROOSEVELT

New York Aldermen May Repudiate Honors Accorded Dr. Frederick Cook.

New York, March 1.—Resolutions to make a street in Harlem "T. Roosevelt," and to repudiate the aldermanic favors bestowed some time back on Dr. Frederick A. Cook, were up for consideration before the board of aldermen today, but no action was taken in either case. The Roosevelt proposal was referred to the committee on streets and highways; the Cook matter was tabled.

Alderman Drescher thinks the way the board has treated Commander Peary is a shame. His was the resolution tabled. It recited that "the city, through its accredited representatives, stands on record as recognizing the discredited and ignoring the real discoverer of the North Pole," and urged that the board place itself on record as recognizing "Peary as the only man who ever carried the flag to the North Pole."

Stalled Express.
Everett, Wash., March 1.—The Great Northern Spokane express, that has been stalled on the summit of the Cascade Mountain since last Thursday, was buried by a slide early today. It is believed there must have been loss of life. A relief train has gone from Everett, but it will not be able to get within 10 miles of the train.

MUSE'S

NOTED ITALIAN PIANIST APPEARS TONIGHT AT GRAND

Ferruccio Busoni, the noted Italian pianist, makes his first appearance in Atlanta tonight at the Grand. In a concert which, for brilliance, promises to rival any ever heard in this city.

From the elaborate criticisms which have been showered upon Busoni throughout his present concert tour, much may be expected of this gifted artist. It is seldom that any virtuoso possesses, as does Busoni, the wonderful command of the keyboard which enables him to easily surmount seemingly impossible difficulties, together with a high degree of intellectuality by means of which he is enabled to render his interpretations readily appreciable to every listener.

Not only as a player of Bach, Beethoven and Liszt does Busoni stand today unrivaled, but he is equally at home in the music of every school and every composer of note.

Busoni is thus spoken of by W. J. Henderson, the noted New York critic: "Since he has visited New York, Mr. Busoni has gained much in the department of touch and tone. His tone is far more liquid and his playing as a consequence more transparent, and warm than it used to be. His delivery of the running passages, for example, had a lovely fluency and delicacy which were not found in similar passages in his earlier days."

"But there was more than this. In his treatment of Beethoven's cantatas, he created a greater illusion of real song than he formerly did. The dryness with which many listeners used to charge him with was gone, and in its place there was a lovely range of refined tints eminently suited to a chaste and unforced delineation of Beethoven's thought."

"New York audiences have heard the majesty of the Emperor's concerto proclaimed with more authoritative accent, but its elevation of style has not been shown forth with larger dignity nor with more respect for the classic beauty of its phraseology."

CHICAGO CLERGYMEN ASKED TO GET BUSY

So That Their Wives May Take Part in Prohibition Campaign.

Chicago, March 1.—Chicago clergymen of many denominations will sweep, dust, make beds, cook and clear up after lunch that their wives may devote their time to the fight against the saloons. The women will meet at noon at Willard Hall, and form an organization that from election day will be active in the campaign for local option.

The agreement of the clergymen to do the housework for one day and receive their wives from domestic cares came as a result of an appeal yesterday by Miss Lucy Page Gaston, of the Anti-Cigarette League, and Mrs. Emily Hill, president of the Cook county W. C. T. U.

These women formed a committee which attended the ministers of all the Protestant denominations and asked the clergymen to enlist the aid of their wives against the liquor traffic.

Dr. Edgar F. Hill, of McCormick seminary, is confident of his ability to run the house.

"If Mrs. Hill attends the meeting you can find me at home keeping the house in order," he declared.

SON GAVE HIS LIFE TO SAVE FATHER He Refused a Doctor Till Sire Was Cared For, and Died.

Salina, Kan., March 1.—Andrew Dell yesterday gave up his life to save that of his father, Enoch Dell. Death was caused by the drinking of a tonic in which strychnine had been placed in the belief that it was quinine. The father prepared the medicine and to assure his son that the tonic was properly made, tasted it first. Both men soon became violently ill. When a physician arrived the son insisted that the father be cared for first. The doctor complied, but when he turned his attention to the younger man it was too late and the son died in great agony within an hour.

Enoch Dell, it is stated, will recover.

"All is over between us," said the emotional youth. "She despises me." "Has she sent back your letters?" "Yes."

"Then cheer up. If she really despised you she would hold on to your letters to be read in court or used for the amusement of her friends."—Washington Star.

$100,000 DAMAGE DONE BY RAINS

To Dam on the Oculum-gee River.

Belongs to the Central Georgia Power Company—Dam and Trestle Washed Away—Will Delay Work of Construction for Several Weeks.

Jackson, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—One hundred thousand dollars damage was done to the dam of the Central Georgia Power Company on the Oculum-gee river eight miles from Jackson during the unprecedented rain here yesterday. The entire dam and trestle below and above the dam proper were washed away. This will necessitate a delay of several weeks in the work of the construction on the $2,000,000 dam.

The rainfall here for the day was 4.2 inches, breaking all previous records and establishing new ones. Much damage has been done throughout the county. The Oculum-gee river at this point is higher than it has been in years. The big dam of the Central Georgia Power Company is considered safe.

FIRST RENT PAID FOR NEW THEATER

Lessees Have Not Decided When Building Will Be Occupied.

Jake Wells, president of the theater company which controls the lease of the new theater on Forsyth street, yesterday paid the first month's rent to the owners of the structure, for which Ten Eyck Brown was architect.

Up to the present time no announcement has been made as to the opening date, or the class of attraction to be offered. The lessees are well fixed in the theater line, and can afford to wait until everything is in apple order for the opening.

There is a great deal of work to be done on every new theater, and it will probably be several weeks at least before the new lessees will be in a position to make definite announcement.

Mr. Wells is very anxious that every detail that makes for the comfort of his patrons be attended to before making any definite move. In the meantime the Orpheum and the Lyric and the Grand will house all Atlanta amusements.

TARDY ARRIVAL OF ATHLETICS

Mack's Yannigans Arrived Shortly Before Seven.

Manager Mack Did Not Arrive. Bunch in Good Shape, Apparently—Tommy Atkins Greeted by Old Friends.

The Philadelphia Yannigans arrived last night at 8:45 o'clock over the Seaboard Air Line railway in a special coach and repaired to the hotel to brush the cinders out of their eyes from the long travel, being over an hour late.

Manager Connie Mack did not arrive with the bunch, having stopped off at Virginia Hot Springs with Captain Harry Davis and his bunch of veterans. The wily leader will get in some time this afternoon, however. The Yannigans look good. They do not seem to need much work to get into shape. Everyone of the youngsters look like they have had a fine winter of it. It seemed to be the consensus of opinion of the party that a bright sunny day today would see them all at the park bright and early for their first workout.

Atkins Here.
The first familiar figure that greeted the eye of the bunch of fans assembled in the lobby of the Kimball was Frank M. (Tommy) Atkins, whose stellar work in the box for the Crackers last season had a lot to do with their winning the pennant. Tommy looks better than ever, says he feels fine and asks only for a thorough try-out. With this he says that he will make all the other twirlers on the staff hurry to make good.

There are all sizes and builds of ball players in the bunch, from sixteen-footers down to little Rats, the speedy infielder, and the way they made themselves perfectly at home after repairing to their rooms was a caution.

One youngster who attracted considerable attention was E. Mack, the son of the Philadelphia mogul. The younger Mack is not going to play with the Athletics this season, however. He is down here to get a good spring workout and to get the benefit of the instructions from his parent before reporting to Utica in the New York State League, where he plays this season.

List of Players.
The players who arrived in the string of youngsters were Jimmy Dygert, Rath, J. Walsh, W. Goode, R. L. Kummer, J. Forester, A. Egan, N. Houser, A. S. Trunk, H. Hoffman, A. Kellough, J. McInnes, F. Atkins, J. Lapp and N. Harker.

Among the other members of the party comprising newspaper men, photographers, etc., were F. Richter, S. Jones, J. Ohi, Gordon McKay, Walter Hoban and S. Erwin.

The bunch that stopped off at Virginia Hot Springs and who will arrive in Atlanta on March 10, are Captain Harry Davis, Pitcher Plank, Bender, Krause, Flene and Morgan, Catchers Livingston and Thomas, Outfielders Oldring, Hartel, Murphy, Butchers and Hittmuller, and Infielders Collins, Barry and Baker.

AT JACKSONVILLE.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 1.—Racing at Moncrief Park today was marred by torrential rains which completely inundated the course and converted the track into a veritable sea of mud and water.

The opening dash all but produced a panic, inasmuch as Starter Brown overlooked Abe Attell, which had not reached the bar, and the running of the event a panicky crowd surrounded the judges' stand and demanded every manner of ruling. The stewards of the association congregated in the stand and after a liberal deliberation, declared all bets on the race off.

After the big betting great excitement prevailed when it was known that Tom Shaw, the biggest operator at this track, probably in the country, and represented by two books, gave instructions to his clerks to discontinue operations.

Underlying the whole affair was some of the most gigantic betting operations of the present meeting, and which could be characterized as diamond-cut-diamond.

ESSAY CONTEST HAS CLOSED

Prize Winners Will Be Announced in a Few Days.

The Essay Contest of The Constitution has been brought to a close, but the six prize-winners will not be announced for a few days on account of the big number of essays that are on hand.

The Essay Editor has looked over the essays that have been received and it looks like the contest is going to be a close one. It is for this reason that the Essay Editor does not want to make his decision too hastily, as one of the contestants would not get what is coming to him.

The prizes that are going to be awarded are: first, a season pass, entitling the holder to free admission to every game played at Ponce de Leon this season; second and third, two tickets to the opening game of the season; fourth, fifth and sixth, one ticket to the closing game of the opening series of the season.

BILLY SMITH BACK IN ATLANTA AGAIN

Manager Billy Smith, of the Buffalo team in the Eastern League, has returned to Atlanta and took the picture of health, happiness and contentment. The former Atlanta mogul will remain in Atlanta until the Buffalo team reports at Macon, Ga., which will be about March 10. Billy dropped into the American theater on Whitehall street yesterday afternoon to see the performance of his friends, Harry Ray and Eddie Sabari of the Nashville team, who are doing a vaudeville stunt at that house.

FRANK SPARKS SIGNS UNIQUE CONTRACT

Pitcher Frank Sparks, of the Cave Springs, Ga., twirler, and for years one of the leading fingers of the Philadelphia Nationals, has just signed a unique contract. He agreed to play for five months, beginning May 15, instead of during the whole season or the full twelve months, as the new major league contracts now read. Sparks refused to join the team for the spring practice, declaring that he could get in shape at home, and besides, that he was never of much use in the early spring. Therefore, he will pitch from the middle of May until October 15, at both himself and the club should profit thereby.

EMBLEMS FOR PLAYERS IN WORLD'S SERIES

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 1.—Only players and teams contesting in the world's championship series will hereafter be awarded pennants and emblems by the National Baseball Commission, according to an announcement made by that body late today. Hitherto all series between National and American League teams under the auspices of the commission have been so noted.

The division of receipts from these by series is hereafter to be made up on the same basis as the world's series, inasmuch as the interest of clubs to divide the money as they may see fit.

At the instance of President Murphy, of the Chicago National League club, a change was also made in the drafting rules by which minor league clubs are given five days in which to accept or reject offers of the return of a drafted player when the player is about to be disposed of to a minor league of the same class.

GROCEER AND CLERK PUT UNDER ARREST

Alleged Unlawfully Colored Oleomargarine Is Seized.

Chicago, March 1.—As another step in the ousting of illegal butterine dealers, internal revenue inspectors today arrested Otto Rapp, a grocer, and Clarence Gregerson, his clerk. Three hundred pounds of oleomargarine, which it is said has been unlawfully colored, were seized by the inspectors.

United States District Attorney Sims today began a general investigation of the oleomargarine business following revelations made in Judge Landis' court yesterday.

RATES NOT UNJUST, SAYS COMMISSION

Decision Is Made Regarding Class and Commodity Rates to Montgomery.

Washington, March 1.—Dental is made by the interstate commerce commission, in an opinion handed down that the freight rates, both class and commodity, to and from Montgomery, Ala., are unjustly discriminatory and unduly preferential to Pensacola, Fla., and Mobile and Birmingham, Ala.

The case in which the decision was rendered was instituted by the Montgomery Freight Bureau against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad and others. The complainant alleges that the class and commodity rates to Montgomery from various points and from Ohio and Mississippi river crossings were unjust and unreasonable in their relation to the rates from the same points to Mobile and Birmingham, Ala., and Pensacola, Fla., to the disadvantage of Montgomery.

S. A. E. FRATERNITY PLANS CELEBRATION

Anniversary Banquet Will Be Held at Piedmont Hotel.

The fifty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity will be celebrated with a banquet by the Atlanta Alumni Association, together with the Georgia Phi chapter, located at Georgia Tech, on the evening of March 3, at 7:30 o'clock at the Piedmont hotel.

A committee consisting of Robert H. Jones, Jr., Earl Greene, J. LeRoy Dunham, Charlton G. Ogburn and Charles F. Stone are making all arrangements for the program. A number of Atlanta's most prominent citizens will be among the speakers, and the occasion promises to be a most auspicious one.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity was founded at the University of Alabama by Noble Leslie DeVille, in the year 1855. Since then it has spread all over the United States, and now has more than seventy chapters, and is represented in all the leading colleges.

The Atlanta Alumni Association has about 400 members.

March 3 is Red Letter Day to the Sig-Alph all over the country. On this occasion he sheds his dignity and leaps back through the years with a glad cry to the festive memories of the days when he strode the campus.

All visiting members are cordially invited to be on hand.

HARRISON BOUND OVER ON CHARGE OF ROBBERY

Young Man in Tears Confesses to His Guilt.

J. E. Harrison, 22 years of age, was held in $1,000 bond on a charge of burglary by Recorder Broyles yesterday afternoon, together with P. P. Hammond, R. M. Justis and Leon Garfield.

Harrison pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing $34.55 from the safe of E. L. Adams Company, wholesale grocers, in the Louisville and Nashville building on Washington street last Friday night.

Hammond is alleged to have acted as a spy while Harrison and Bert Vickery, a young man now at large, committed the theft. Justis and Garfield are said to have aided in disposing of the money, nearly all of which has been recovered.

In making his statement, young Harrison, who was employed with the grocery firm for the past six months, declared that he was not in the building at the midnight hour, his heart flung him twice before he finally began to work on the combination of the safe. Vickery, he stated, was responsible for his falling into temptation. Harrison broke into tears and wept bitterly when going back into the prisoners' room.

HON. JOE HALL MAY RUN AGAIN

Brown House, Macon, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—Present indications are that Hon. Joe Hall will be returned to the legislature from Bibb again this year. He has declined to ask for the place again in rather positive language, but it is better understood among his friends than his own office that he will be in the running again and for his old place. Many friends believe that his support will be stronger than ever this time.

His work last year in securing a limitation to the powers of the recorder of Macon set a strong fight upon him from certain quarters during the summer session of the Georgia legislature. Since the plan he secured in his measure went into effect and since the stronger members of the opposition here found that he was sincere in his fight for the change, he is not considered the bad man at all.

Many people will join in the movement to have him returned to the legislature. If he is elected, it is certain that he will take up the work of the new term with the old-time vim and effort to do splendid service. It is highly probable that Representative Roland Ellis will be urged to run again and also Representative Evans, but the purposes as to their running are not yet rounded into shape.

WANT TO REINSTATE WEST POINT CADETS

New Move Made Before House Committee on Military Affairs.

Washington, March 1.—A new move to reinstate the seven West Point cadets dismissed last September for hazing was made before the house committee on military affairs today when Representative Borland, of Missouri, and others appeared to urge an amendment to the resolution recently adopted empowering the president to again pass on the cases of three, so as to include all seven.

The cadets are John H. Booker, Jr., Jacob S. Fortner, Richard W. Hocker, Jr., Earl W. Dunmore, Gordon Lafebre, Chauncey C. Decote and Albert E. Crane.

CHANGES ARE MADE IN BIRMINGHAM NEWS

Interest of the Late General Rhodes Sold to Hanson and Glass.

Birmingham, March 1.—A controlling interest in the Birmingham News was sold today by the estate of General Rufus N. Rhodes to Victor H. Hanson, of Birmingham, and Frank P. Glass, of Montgomery. The sale was made on a basis of $400,000 valuation.

At a meeting of stockholders this afternoon, directors as follows were chosen: James S. Vance, J. H. White, Thomas J. Hefflin, Frank P. Glass and Victor H. Hanson.

The directors elected these officers: Victor H. Hanson, president; Frank P. Glass, vice president; James S. Vance, secretary, and Thomas J. Hefflin, treasurer.

PRISONER MAKES HIS THIRD ESCAPE

Will Ellison Keeps Promise He Made to Authorities at Spartanburg.

Spartanburg, S. C., March 1.—Will Ellison, of Pelzer, S. C., who promised the local police authorities three weeks ago when he was brought back here from Thomasville, N. C., where he was arrested after his second escape from the Spartanburg city jail, that he would escape again, made good his promise this afternoon when he threw a pistol into the face of Chief of Police Brown, and relieving that official of his rifle, walked away. Tonight mounted officers armed with rifles are searching the woods for him.

Constipation Cured Free

With the first signs of constipation you resort to the home methods of relief, such as hot or cold water on arising, lots of steamed fruit with your breakfast, etc., but what do you do when these fail?

The majority then start on salts and purgative waters, then change to cathartic pills, etc. If you have gone through all these things and still find they were all useless, so far as permanent results go. Now you should try just once more, but try something practical and sensible, a remedy made and intended for the purpose you are trying to accomplish. Such a remedy, as thousands can testify, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is guaranteed to be permanent in its results. Its ingredients are such that by a brief use of it the stomach and bowel muscles are trained to again do their work normally, so that in the end you can do away with medicines of all kinds. That it will do this Mr. G. V. Dodson of Sanville, Va., will gladly attest, and so will Mrs. S. A. Hampton of Portage, O.

To those who are still skeptical there is a way to prove these assertions without a penny of expense: Simply send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell and obtain a free sample bottle. After using it, if you are then convinced it is the remedy you need, buy a fifty-cent or one dollar bottle of your druggist and continue to use it for a brief time until cured. The directions are simple and the dose is small. It is pleasant to the taste, does not gripe and is promptly effective, and these statements are guaranteed or money will be refunded.

This remedy is over a quarter of a century old and is personally taken by more druggists than any other similar remedy on the American market. Because of its effectiveness, purity and pleasant taste it is the ideal laxative remedy for children, women and old folks generally.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, P. O. 515, Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

ATLANTA, GA., MARCH 2, 1910.

March didn't blow in as loud as a campaign bugle.

Philadelphia is not only able to catch a car, but to burn it.

However, the weather is able to spring a few blooming jokes on us.

The exercise Philadelphia is taking will soon necessitate another long sleep.

Seize the opportunity to rise in the world by investigating the cost of living.

There are the "Taft bills" and the "Aldrich bills." Don't the people own anything at all?

Think of Winter trying to clip the curls of a lady like Spring, at his time o' life!

Congress is rewarding heroes. When will Uncle Joe receive a medal for stepping down and out?

How that somnolent, but lately awakened, Sphinx will enjoy the opportunity to play leapfrog.

Colonel Gordon will "return to the bosom of his state," but not to slumber. He's wide awake—he is!

So mild was the first day of March, it didn't blow in a monthly statement out of a bill collector's hands.

Members of disoanded Ananias clubs will soon be rushing to catch trains for the nearest seaport.

A rise even in the humble Chattahoochee. Never do for water to get too high in prohibition territory.

For the entertainment of T. R. in Egypt old "palaces and pyramids" will slope their heads to their foundations.

Fortunate Florida is fattening on strawberry shortcake. The rest of the country is short, because the trust takes the cake.

By the way the beef trust bull paws the ground in the arena it must still be under the impression that it owns the earth.

Mr. Taft is hereby informed that Harmony is off somewhere, taking bromide. The republican party gives it a headache.

Mr. Carnegie may have "the giving habit," but in newspaper interviews he isn't giving the nearest trust the Hall Columbia it deserves.

There will be an airship feature to the Roosevelt home-coming, and those who wish to get out of reach should apply for space.

If Speaker Cannon will contemplate the brief political history of ex-Senator Gordon he will learn something about retiring gracefully from office.

Will the great hunter be equal to the task of getting the republican elephant out of the unharmonious jungle?

The venerable gentleman from Mississippi should take the platform as a messenger of peace and good will, who has the habit of saying something.

Editor Bailey says that if George Washington were alive today he would be a citizen of Texas. Perhaps. But if he possessed the old intelligence, he would soon know better.

VALUE OF A SANITARY PACKING-HOUSE.

The great value to Atlanta in the opening of the sanitary packing-house of the White Provision Company here, on March 3, is the theme of W. S. Simmons, of this city, in a communication published today.

As Mr. Simmons indicates, The Constitution has, consistently and for years, fought impure meats in Atlanta, whether in the packing-house or retail selling stages.

The safeguarding of community health takes a large forward stride with the opening of the White plant, built sanitariously from foundation-stone up, and conducted by experts trained in each phase of the industry.

Of equal importance is its economic bearing on the cattle-raising industry of Georgia.

In this connection, the Chamber of Commerce views the inauguration of the packing-house as a matter of great moment that it is officially supervising the details of the opening ceremonies on March 3.

The enterprise that gives Atlanta a model packing-house gives to the farmers of Georgia a ready cash market for their cattle, an awakening incentive to reviving cattle-raising on such a scale as should push cotton closely as a revenue-maker.

Incidentally, it will be an excellent idea if the dairies and the country papers throughout Georgia, as well as the agricultural journals, should carry full accounts of the opening of this new packing-house on the 3d instant.

It is really swinging wide a door of hope not only for the farmers individually, but as well for the state-at-large. For, if Georgia can resuscitate the cattle-raising industry to the dimensions easily possible in this state, we shall be materializing another pledge to prosperity, so firmly reinforced as to serve as a windfall against all future financial depressions or stringencies.

SENATOR GORDON AND THE "IRRECONCILABLES."

Strangely interesting, both in the way of coincidence and in sentiment, is a communication from Frederick Barrett Gordon, of Columbus, Ga., published today.

Mr. Gordon, who writes in appreciation of The Constitution's editorial extolling Senator James Gordon, of Mississippi, as an old-school southern gentleman, is himself the son of another James Gordon, of Massachusetts. The broad spirit of Mr. Gordon's letter makes singularly apt his application to his father of the term "old-school" northern gentleman.

The Constitution is impressed by the liberal and understanding spirit in which Mr. Gordon discusses and extenuates the civil war "irreconcilables" on each side of the fence.

But it appears to us that he has misinterpreted the positions both of this paper and of Senator Gordon.

Always there will be, both north and south, abundant reminiscence, a gentle fighting-over of the old battles, when the blue-coated or the gray-coated hosts gather in reunions. Such events and their meaning are, truly, neither to be "pitied nor cursed." They represent the flower of tradition, the finest fruit of a rejuvenated patriotism, and are incapable of engendering even the tincture of bitterness.

What The Constitution criticizes, and probably what Senator Gordon had in mind when he invoked the term "blab-mouths," has two heads: The first, typified by that infrequent veteran of prominence, north or south, given to waving the "bloody shirt" on the slightest provocation, and breathing a gospel uniformly of acrimony, recrimination and sullen antagonism.

Second, the man of the younger generation, on either side, such as Senator Heyburn, who knows nothing personally of the ordeals of battle, but who seeks to fan dead embers for a little passing political capital. With these two types The Constitution confesses to little patience.

Mr. Gordon, of Columbus, is unquestionably with us when he recalls the stinging contempt dealt Heyburn by the United States senate—Heyburn, whose nostrils had never been pricked by powder.

BOTH ENDING AND MENDING THE LORDS.

Liberal Premier Asquith has set himself the difficult task of both ending and mending the house of lords, as a consequence of the complicated crisis between the contingent supporting the Lloyd-George budget and those opposing it.

For some days following the convening of the new parliament, elected as a result of the recent general election, it was a matter of considerable doubt whether the liberal party could muster enough of a vote to continue in control of the government.

Later developments show the conservatives, who are really exercising a sort of conditional control, as willing to give the liberals another lease on life, until after the Easter holidays, at least, in preference to going before the country within so short a time with another general election.

As likely as not, the main factor in the decision of the conservatives was the attitude of the Irish element in parliament. The latter are anxious, above all things, to curtail the veto power of the lords, the possible application of which has ever been a last tentative stumbling block in the way of Irish home rule. Premier Asquith has pledged himself to vigorously push measures, in the immediate future, to deprive the lords both of the veto power and of the right to participate in financial legislation.

It is probable this proposition, as much as any other consideration, induced the nationalists (the Irish, mainly) to refrain from voting with the conservatives, or anti-budget element, on an immediate "show-down."

Meanwhile, Mr. Asquith has announced that if the program to abbreviate the functions of the lords goes through, he will next proceed to mend that body by amending its hereditary character and substituting an elective system.

Should all of his proposals materialize, and there are plenty of stubborn obstacles in the way, Great Britain would have a national legislative body fashioned somewhat upon the pattern of our own senate, except that inevitably the British body would necessarily be of higher class.

A REASONABLE SUGGESTION.

Expressing sympathy in the movement to check the evil of cotton gambling and the hope that congress will, at this session, pass some restrictive measures, Fire and Fabric, a well-known Boston textile publication, says in the same connection:

We would like to suggest to the Farmers' Union of the south, that they apply as much energy to the reformation of the baling system as to the movement to suppress gambling in cotton futures, and thus contribute their portion in revolutionizing cotton-handling so that the dealers can carry on a legitimate business between the growers and the manufacturers, and all concerned will receive full value for their money.

The suggestion is wholly a reasonable one, and The Constitution has repeatedly urged the necessity for the improvement of the condition of the package in which cotton is marketed.

The Farmers' Union has attempted improvement along this line through an educational campaign, but this is one direction in which progress has been slow.

It is a long, hard task, in which reform depends much on the individual farmer being made to realize that it is to his own interest and advantage to make a decent and respectable package of his cotton when he prepares it for sale.

What cotton producer would go into a store and buy a sack of flour so poorly packed that the flour was leaking out through holes in the sack? He'd take the clean, well-made package every time.

Purchasers of cotton have the right to demand similar consideration, and the man who puts his cotton in the cleanest, safest package is bound to get the edge on the others.

The same publication further comments on a fact which we have frequently stressed—that the most satisfactory covering for cotton can be made from cotton itself. Thus, there would be furnished another source of consumption of the lower grades, which would give just that much more strength and stability to prices.

With cotton at the good prices which have prevailed during the current season, there has been, perhaps, too little thought given to the subject of reform in the method of packing.

But it is a thing the cotton-grower must think about and, sooner or later, must achieve, since it is going to prove a vital element in the strengthening of his position in the market.

ARTESIAN WELLS AND SHOES.

To the artesian well is due the fact that Mississippi is a prohibition state, according to Rev. Oscar Haywood, a prominent New York minister. All of which presents a very pretty problem in social economics.

The people of Mississippi, according to Rev. Mr. Haywood, formerly drank swamp water and had to fight off mosquitoes with closed windows and, sometimes, with sticks.

Consequently they were malarial, depressed and enervated; men felt the need of stimulants to keep them going.

"But when the first artesian well was tapped in Aberdeen," says Rev. Mr. Haywood, "the death warrant of the saloon was signed, and Mississippi is today a prohibition state."

So it is not always just a question of getting on the water-wagon, but rather of getting the right kind of water.

It is inconceivable that the Mississippi artesian water has any of the "joy" qualities in it; so it must be a plain case of getting rid of the poison. Herein is a valuable suggestion to some of the other states which have adopted prohibition: Bore artesian wells and the people will soon become reconciled to it, referring, of course, to that portion of the population which has not yet reached a state of reconciliation.

But, in any event, the artesian well proposition furnishes the basis for an interesting and, perhaps, important suggestion.

Why would not shoes accomplish the same thing for the mountaineers and others in certain rural districts who have long been accustomed to making and consuming considerable quantities of so-called "moonshine?"

The depressed and enervated condition of those who indulge in this illicit "joy-water" certainly is not due to lack of pure and wholesome drinking water, for the bubbling mountain streams bring it pouring forth fresh from nature's perfect filters.

So the responsibility must be placed upon the insidious hook worm.

Possibly, then, here is the solution to the moonshining problem which has so long perplexed the government.

If the internal revenue department would kill out the hook worm and furnish the moonshiners with shoes as a preventive, perhaps it might succeed in eradicating the occasion and desire for immoderate consumption of converted juice of the corn.

Possibly this would be a more effective, if not less expensive, method than the maintenance of an extensive and costly corps of deputy marshals. Rev. Mr. Haywood's artesian well proposition furnishes the clue; some good sleuth should be put immediately on the job.

If artesian wells closed up the Mississippi saloons, why not shoes as an antidote for "mountain dew?"

"JUST FROM GEORGIA"

Good Word for Winter.

Say what you please about him,

He's jolly as can be;

Winter's not an ice trust,

'Cause he gives it to you—free!

But he stays too long;

So he's treatin' of us wrong;

We're waitin' for to listen

To a bird that knows a song

Say what you please about him,

He covered all the ground;

He kept the fiddles goin' where

We whirled the gals around!

Yet he stays too long;

So he's treatin' of us wrong;

Oh, how we'd like to listen

To a bird that knows a song!

A Georgia Philosopher.

There is much old-fashioned philosophy in C. H. Beazley's volume of verses, "Crackerlings and Caramels." And here is a sample of it:

"Lord! 't' gits de seasons up,

Lord! 't' gits de quails,

Folks dat keep de furrer clean

Too Rich to Be True.

The Lamar Democrat tells this one on a local minister:

"A young man went to Lamar to get married. He gave the minister a silver dollar and a bill. Later the preacher looked at the bill and was delighted to note that it was a $20 certificate. Pretty soon the phone rang, and the minister recognized the anxious voice at the other end as that of the quondam owner of the twenty. 'D-d-d! I give you a $20 bill awhile ago?' he asked. The minister said that he did. 'It was a mistake. I intended to give you a two,' said the young fellow apologetically. The way it is, it leaves me a little short. So I'll ask you to mail me a draft for $15. I am now down at the depot, ready to take the train.' The minister promptly mailed the draft."

SATURDAY NIGHT CLUB WILL ORGANIZE AGAIN

The First Meeting to Be Held on Next Saturday Night.

The newly-reorganized "Saturday Night Debating Club," composed of a number of young Atlantians, will hold its first regular meeting next Saturday night in the Central Young Men's Christian Association building.

The subject for debate will be, "Resolved, That Georgia Should Adopt a Compulsory Education Law." Robert C. Alston, president of the former club, will make an address on the aims and achievements of the club.

At the meeting officers will be elected and plans discussed for the future work. Edward C. Clarkson will preside as chairman. Many young men were members of the club when it was first organized in 1893, and the organization continued as a literary and debating club for fourteen years.

Fire at Digby.

Brooks, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—Last night, at 10 o'clock, the Digby Mercantile Company, a general store, located near here, at Digby, Ga., was completely destroyed by fire. Mr. Digby left yesterday afternoon for Atlanta to buy his spring bill, and the supposition is that the store was robbed and burned during his absence. The stock was fairly well covered by insurance.

Mr. Price's Position.

Montgomery, Ala., March 1.—(Special.)—Kyle B. Price, in the race for railroad commissioner, will not take the stump for Colonel John B. Knox for the United States senate, as has been reported, though he will vote for the Amintion man, as he agreed to do some time ago. Mr. Price and Mr. Knox have been friends for a long time, and the relation is a natural one. Mr. Price has been endorsed for the position he seeks by the democratic committee of Coffee county.

WHY GOVERNOR BROWN DIDN'T PURCHASE LAND

Discussing editorially the action of Governor Brown in refusing to purchase certain land near Chattanooga as terminal property for the Western and Atlantic railroad, a matter left to his discretion by the legislature, The Macon Telegraph says:

"The facts as we understand them are these. During Governor Smith's term the state secured options on seven acres of land. The legislature voted an appropriation of $45,000 to pay for that land, provided, however, (we quote the legislative act), 'that the governor shall first examine and approve the matter and if in his judgment it is not to the best interest of the state, he shall not make the purchase.' Acting under this mandate Governor Brown sent agents to Chattanooga and they reported against the purchase. They found, as we learn, that there were really two tracts which connect only at a corner in order to make them adaptable for a railroad terminal—to lay the necessary collateral network of tracks—other land would have to be purchased. If the state had bought those tracts, meeting at corners, the owners of adjacent property would have had the state by the forelock and could have demanded exorbitant prices for its use.

"The act of the legislature was not 'mandatory' on the governor, as asserted by an Atlanta newspaper, but it put the responsibility and the option of the purchase on him. The legislature said that 'if in his (the governor's) judgment it is not to the best interest of the state he shall not make the purchase.'"

"This is very clear. The governor, after a careful examination, decided that it was not to the best interest of the state, and therefore he decided to make the purchase."

"Like numerous other efforts to put the governor in a hole, this one has also failed. Furthermore, the state treasury is not burdened with cash to make doubtful investments."

In a subsequent editorial on the same subject, The Telegraph says:

"The joint resolution of the legislature, provided for the purchase of three separate tracts of land for terminal purposes for the state road, the total appropriation therefor being $45,000. The appropriation for the first tract was $15,000, and for the second $45,000. These two tracts the legislature directed the governor to purchase after due examination of the titles.

"The third tract of seventeen and a half acres, for which $15,000 was appropriated, was not included in the report made by the commission appointed by Governor Smith, but it was found, when the legislative committee visited the ground in the summer of this year, which cornered into the other two, was essential to the completion of the state's purchase. Without it, it was generally acknowledged, the rest would be valueless. It was to the purchase of this tract that the law gave the governor discretionary authority.

"Backed up by the reports of experts who decided that the whole proposed purchase unit for terminal purposes, and also by the opinion of Attorney General Hart that there was no money available in the treasury for the purpose, Governor Brown decided to drop the matter and let the options lapse. The general opinion of people familiar with the situation is that the land will still be there for sale next summer and the options may be renewed. It is also generally acknowledged that there is no cause for undue haste as the lease of the land to the state has ten years yet to run."

"The persistent efforts to run Governor Brown into a hole have been ludicrous failures. Certainly there would be no money available in the treasury for the purpose, and the state would be left with a large tract of land available, and there is no cause for undue haste as the lease of the land to the state has ten years yet to run."

HYPERMETROPIA

OPTICAL TALK NO. 7.

We stated in last talk that in cases of Hypermetropia, commonly called "Far Sight," young people can usually see clearly, but suffer from eyestrain—on the contrary, as persons who have this defect grow older, the vision becomes poor, not only in sewing, reading, etc., but also in viewing objects at a distance.

The only recourse is glasses, and either two pairs must be used—one pair for far-seeing and one for close use—or else Bifocal Lenses—far and near vision combined in the same glasses.

We are perfectly equipped for examining the eyes for glasses and for prescribing and grinding the right lenses.

EASTERN OR CENTRAL TIME?
HOW DO ATLANTANS VOTE?

The vote to date, as The Constitution has reported, shows 51 per cent of Atlantans for Eastern time and 49 per cent for Central time.

The chamber of commerce has taken hold of the proposal for discussion and investigation, and the city council has pending an ordinance to change to Eastern time.

Both of these bodies are anxious to get as accurately as possible at public sentiment on the subject.

The council committee on ordinances will, at an early date, hold a public hearing on the subject.

The best method of finding out what the people of Atlanta think about it is for each one to express himself.

He Was Adrift Eight Days.

Galveston, Texas, March 1.—Alone on an empty barge, Peter Nelson, aged 60, was carried across the Gulf of Mexico and landed on the coast of Tamaulipas.

The barge broke from the tug towing it near Galveston, and, driven by a storm, was cast adrift and for eight days and nights was at the mercy of wind and sea. For five days Nelson subsisted on two days' rations.

The barge ran aground on the Mexican coast, and natives rescued him. After giving him food and water, he was sent back to Texas by rail. He arrived here last night.

The Saturday Evening Post published an article last October, in which authorities proved that the best grade of diamonds had enhanced in value at the rate of 17 1/2 per cent yearly.

The next quality showed an average increase of over 11 per cent annually; both advances being based upon the records of the past ten years.

Compare this rate of increase with such investments as stocks, bonds, real estate, insurance or interest paid on savings accounts.

Board of Education Tells Ex-President Will Deliver

Why Secret Meetings Are Often Necessary.

Lecture at Grand Amphitheater.

Paris, March 1.—The program adopted by the council of the University of Paris for the entertainment on April 16 of Theodore Roosevelt, former president of the United States, subject to the subsequent approval of the board of education.

At 1 p. m. Mr. Roosevelt will be officially received; at 3 o'clock he will deliver his lecture in the grand amphitheater at Sorbonne; at 7 o'clock he will be the guest at dinner of the rector and family of the University of Paris; and this will be followed at 10 o'clock by a reception at which he will meet those best known in the scientific, literary and artistic world of Paris.

As Mr. Roosevelt has requested specifically that he be permitted to speak to the young men of France, admission to his lecture at the Sorbonne will be restricted to students and professors.

The bond commission will meet this morning at 11 o'clock for the purpose of appointing several committees to act with the various boards and council committees that will expend the bond money for sewers, schools, waterworks, hospital and crematory.

The bonds have all appointed committees to meet with the committees of the bond commission. It is believed that this arrangement will greatly simplify matters and result in quicker work being done to have plans for the public improvements which are to be made with the money from the $3,000,000 bond issue.

PERRY MAY ENTER TREASURER RACE

Retirement of Treasurer

Brown May Mean His Candidacy.

Announcement that Hon. J. Pope Brown will not be a candidate to succeed himself no doubt means the opening up of an interesting political campaign for that office.

Doubtless there are several well-known Georgians already figuring on the race. It was generally reported around the capitol, following Mr. Brown's announcement that he would serve out his present term, but would not be a candidate for reelection, that Hon. Ben F. Perry, present assistant to the state treasurer, would be a candidate for the nomination in this year's primary.

Several friends of Mr. Perry said they felt satisfied he could be counted upon to be in the race, though he would not have been had Mr. Brown decided he would like to keep the office.

When asked about the report of his probable candidacy, Mr. Perry said: "Whatever may be my own personal feelings and desires with reference to the treasurership at the expiration of Mr. Brown's term, it is too early now to discuss the candidacy of anyone and, moreover, the people are the real arbiters of this question and should be first heard from."

"I am frank to say, however, that since I have been serving for more than two years in the office as chief clerk and assistant, both to the late Captain R. E. Park and Mr. Brown, and have had ten years' previous experience as assistant cashier of the Bank of Canton, I feel that I am specially fitted and qualified for the important and responsible duties of state treasurer."

True, no penalty is provided for those who unlawfully assume the title of baronet. But the very fact that the government for the first time, is establishing a complete list of everyone lawfully entitled to a baronetcy, and that only those whose claims are clearly established are to be included in the list, will inflict the stigma of fraud on all those who are not included in the roll of what the Lord Beaconsfield contemptuously described in one of his novels as "the peerage of the middle classes."

It is probable that nothing more will be heard of the extraordinary hoax practiced upon Admiral Sir William May, commanding the home fleet, and upon rear admirals and officers of his staff, when they were called upon the other day to receive with royal honors the board of the ship the Dreadnought.

By the ring-leader of the hoax is the son of a high dignitary high in the service of the crown, and it is from motives of consideration for this personage that the affair is being hushed up. Also, too, because Sir William May and his officers realize that any further publicity in the matter, such as would be required in the event of legal proceedings, would merely tend to increase the ridicule to which they are now being subjected.

The government was at first inclined to bring the jokers to very serious account, and to proceed against them legally, which could readily have been done, since the leader of the band had sent a telegram to Sir William May, and had affixed thereto the signature of one of the lords of the admiralty, announcing the arrival of Prince Makalin and suite at Weymouth, and directing him to accord full honors to the royal guest from Abyssinia.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY WRITES OF FOREIGN COURTS

(Copyright, 1910, for The Constitution.)

King Edward has at length taken the only steps within his power to check the unwarranted assumption of baronetcies, of which there are probably a couple of hundred or so that are bogus. Quite a number of these usurpations have even found their way into the standard works of reference. In fact, all that has been necessary in the past has been for a man to assume the title of baronet, and if he had plenty of money, was hospitable and liberal in his expenditures, and possessed any breeding whatsoever, the majority of people with whom he was brought into contact would honor him in the matter, and accord him the title which he had usurped. Some of these bogus baronets have even gone to the length of publishing paid advertisements in the newspapers, to the effect that from that time forth they would style themselves in all legal papers and documents "Sir" and so, by virtue of their alleged descent from some former baronet, the title would be conceded to their heirs.

As a matter of course, without any recollection of the fact that it had been self-assumed and would thus find its way into the works of reference.

Investigating the Baronets.

The bona fide baronets have frequently protested against this, and finally, two years ago, a royal commission was appointed to investigate and report upon the matter. On the strength of that report, and inquiries, the king has now issued a royal warrant, directing that an official roll of the Order of Baronets shall be prepared, and kept at the home department, and that no person whose name is not mentioned on this roll, shall be received as a baronet, or shall be addressed or mentioned by that title. In any civil or military commission, letters patent or any other official documents, such as royal warrants, etc., will inflict the stigma of fraud on all those who are not included in the roll of what the Lord Beaconsfield contemptuously described in one of his novels as "the peerage of the middle classes."

Personally, I regret very much that Mr. Brown has decided not to be a candidate to succeed himself. His appointment met the approval of the people generally, and I do not believe he would have had any opposition had he seen proper to become a candidate.

But having been associated with him since his appointment as state treasurer and state bank examiner, and can continue the work with little or no confusion usually incident to a change of officials.

"Personally, I regret very much that Mr. Brown has decided not to be a candidate to succeed himself. His appointment met the approval of the people generally, and I do not believe he would have had any opposition had he seen proper to become a candidate.

Did the Same Thing Before.

The party are the same humorists who played a similar hoax on the major of Cambridge a few years ago, when, pretending to be the suite of Zanzibar and his suite, they were received by the chief magistrate of Cambridge and the municipality, at the railroad station, and also by the university authorities, with the utmost distinction, and on a day there, without anybody penetrating their disguise.

An amusing hoax of much the same kind was played by the stepson of Waldo-Rousseau upon the management of the Comedie Francaise, while he was prime minister. The premier was seated at a box in one of the orchestra stalls, at the performance, when suddenly a most gorgeous-looking Oriental, wonderfully attired, with a suite almost as magnificent, and even more dusky than himself, were ushered into the presidential loge, by the director general of the Francaise, of course attracting an immense amount of attention. The prime minister, inquired, and one of the ushers, who the distinguished strangers were, was informed that it was the maharajah of Travancore, and on the following morning at breakfast related the incident, and at the same time expressed his astonishment that he should have been kept in at the Palace of the maharajah's arrival in Paris. It was then that his stepson, unable to preserve his gravity, gave the secret away.

Most Famous Hoax.

However, perhaps the most famous hoax of this kind was that perpetrated by the late Marquis de Gallifet on the Empress Eugenie at the Palace of St. Cloud. The Burmese embassy, having visited Queen Victoria, came to Paris, and prepared to leave for the capital of the empire, one of the most interested persons being Empress Eugenie, who had been much struck by the pictures in the illustrated papers of the ceremony at Buckingham palace, when they were received in audience there. On the appointed day, the emperor and empress took their places on the throne, surrounded by the dignitaries of their household, and the most august of orders were given, and the Burmese embassy, on the doors being opened, the envoys and their suite threw themselves on the ground, and, in great contortions, the principal ambassador, an individual with a long gray beard, particularly distinguishing himself by the manner in which he rolled over, actually turning somersaults.

Enraged as were those present to the strange scene of etiquette, and displaying an impressive demeanor and gravity, the spectacle was so comical that it provoked beyond all their powers of endurance. The silence was broken by sounds of ill-suppressed laughter from every side, and even the mournful-looking emperor was biting his lips to prevent himself from giving way to mirth.

Empress Remained Serious.

Only the empress remained perfectly serious, frowning with indignation at what she considered to be a gross lack of decorum on the part of her entourage, and of the courtiers generally. When at length the old emperor broke out in contortions more grotesque than any of the rest, landed himself at the foot of the throne, the empress and headgear suddenly fell off, disclosing the familiar features of the Marquis de Gallifet, then one of the young aides-de-camp of Napoleon, and noted for the boldness and originality of his pranks, and his success in leading the cotillions at the private Monday dances of the empress.

Then the fat was in the fire. Every one present gave way to the most uncontrollable laughter. Only the empress declined to join in the general merriment. She considered that the practical joke had been at her expense. She chose to look upon herself as insulted, and that the entire affair had been organized to ridicule the pronounced predilection of court ceremonial with which she was charged by those who denounced her as a parvenu.

After a few bitterly angry words addressed to the emperor, she withdrew, at length the old emperor, with a look of mortification in her eyes, and when some days later the real Burmese embassy turned up, and had to be received in state, not in the Palace of St. Cloud, but at the Tuilleries, she absolutely declined to be present, or to take any part in the function. Moreover, nearly a year elapsed before the Marquis de Gallifet was able to recover his place in her good graces. MARQUISE DE FONTENAY.

Fertilizer Sales Decrease.

Montgomery, Ala., March 1.—Fertilizer movements show a falling off in the state for the five months ending February 28, as compared to the same period a year ago. Tag sales summed up at the capitol today show a decrease in receipts of $2,866.50, the figures being $55,050.50 for this year and $57,917.00 for last year. The figures also mean a reduction in cotton acreage. A 30-cent tag must go on each ton of fertilizer sold.

Smart Toilettes.

That more antique silk of soft texture will be one of the spring novelties is assured in the pretty patterns in that material being shown by importers. An Atlanta artist has just fashioned a gown in silvery blue moiré silk, the skirt a train. Over it is a dress of net the same color, hand-braided in chic design. The corsage of Frenchy fashion, was draped with the net and had an under yoke and drop sleeves of white net with silver dewdrops.

Giving effective finish are cabochons of cut jet on the corsage and the others used in draping the tunic. For the same stylish woman was a foulard of silk in tiny navy blue and white check, the skirt made with a Paquin flounce. The corsage, simply fashioned, has a trimming of blue lace through which shows a lining of white silk.

In the sea darme blue voile was an exquisite evening gown, the material chiffon voile. The skirt had a stole front, embroidered, which reached almost to the bottom of the skirt, the latter finished with a flounce piped with satin. The corsage was made in a folded effect in front, finished with pipings of satin and a delicate embroidery in blue.

A pretty foulard was of black and white satin finish with yoke of Irish lace and an effective trimming of coral color. A calling gown of black chiffon cloth had a draped graceful skirt, and the corsage artistically fashioned, introducing a touch of gold and aquamarine blue.

Five O'Clock Tea.

The hospitality of "The Homestead," Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Connally's home in West End, found delightful expression yesterday afternoon in the five o'clock tea given by Miss Frances Connally to introduce her attractive guest, Miss Hazel White, of Leesburg, Va.

As famous for flowers as for its happy hospitality, the homestead was gay with them, all the way from the jonquils, growing in the urns at the entrance gate. They filled vases and bowls with their brilliant colors, the reception rooms, and foliage plants provided their rich background.

In the dining room, where delicious refreshments were served, the table was beautiful in its suggestion of spring. The centerpiece, on a chrysanthemum lace cover, was a silver loving cup of jonquils, and smaller vases were filled with hyacinths, violets and jonquils. The silver candlesticks burned white candles unshaded, and the candles were yellow and white.

Tea was served in the loggia, which was hung with jessamines. Palms were banded in the corners, and red hibiscus was effective, growing under the windows.

Funch was served in the library from a bowl set in the midst of pink tulips, and Miss Cora McCord Brown, Miss Mary Brown and Miss Ruth Rosser were an attractive group of young girls presiding there. All of them wearing dainty lingerie dresses.

Miss Connally's reception gown was a becoming one in white. It was of net over satin, and its trimming was of crystals. Miss White was pretty in blue, her gown of satin, trimmed with blue net and silver. Mrs. Connally was gowned in black lace over white satin, with a trimming in gold.

Mrs. John Spalding wore pink chiffon with a finish in black. Mrs. Warren Martin wore white crepe gown trimmed with spangled net.

Alternating at the tea table, Mrs. Joseph M. Brown wore light blue satin with pearl embroidery. Mrs. George M. Brown wore white satin, trimmed with gold and gold, and Mrs. Elijah Brown wore blue crepe de chine embroidered in gold.

Among the young ladies assisting, Miss Annie Caverly was gowned in white chiffon trimmed with silk fringe and crystals. Miss Katherine Cox wore primrose satin and lace. Miss Burton, of Kentucky, wore pink chiffon cloth over white satin, with a trimming of pearls. Miss Mary Anderson was gowned in black chiffon over white satin.

The receiving party included: Mrs. John Spalding, Mrs. Warner Martin, Miss Sally Eugenia Brown, Miss Corrie Hoyt Brown, Miss Mary Anderson, Miss Annie Caverly, Miss Mary Robinson, Miss Katherine Cox, Miss Sara Dorsey, Miss Kate Ellis, the guest of Miss Sally Eugenia Brown; Miss Dorothy Miller and Mrs. Joseph Eby.

After the tea the receiving party was joined by a number of gentlemen for supper.

Miss Hazel Wood entertained a number of her young friends at an afternoon party yesterday. The occasion was most enjoyable, and heart-dice was played. Miss Louise Parker and Miss Mary Murphy won the prizes, silk stockings and a box of candy.

Surprise Party.

A happy occasion last night was the surprise party given by Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Connally in compliment to their niece, Miss Corrie Hoyt Brown, the occasion celebrating her birthday.

SHOE DEPARTMENT OPENED BY POPULAR CLOTHIERS

Under the most auspicious circumstances, Daniel Bros., the well-known clothiers, yesterday opened to the public their shoe department. The opening had been well advertised, and from early morning until the store was closed in the afternoon, there was a steady string of inspectors and buyers pouring into the place.

In the four large show windows on Peachtree, a dozen pretty girls were seated about tables, on which were a large number of placards setting out the merits of the shoes being sold on the inside. The novelty of the advertisement "look" instantly, and throughout the day a large crowd was gathered in front of the windows.

The line of shoes which Daniel Bros. now carry is second to none in the city, and the indications of yesterday are that this department of the store is to become as justly popular as the other departments have heretofore proven themselves to be.

It was also agreed that the company shall be asked to make an effort to relieve the congestion, which occurs when the majority of people are going to and from work. It is suggested that this may be accomplished by the operation of more cars.

Over $10,000 Shown by February Figures.

All Indications Now Point to the Million-Dollar Mark Being Reached by the Atlanta Office During the Calendar Year.

The monthly report of the Atlanta postoffice, complete in every detail, for February, was finished shortly after midnight Monday, the last day of that month, by Edwin F. Blodgett, then postmaster, and was yesterday made of record for future comparison and transmitted to the postoffice department in Washington by Mr. McKee, the new postmaster.

And the report brings a showing of which Postmaster McKee and his predecessor, E. F. Blodgett, may both be proud. For the month of February, 1910, the receipts at the Atlanta postoffice aggregated $83,677.57, while for the corresponding year preceding the receipts were $73,476.97, making an increase of 1910 over 1909 of $10,200.60. That indicates an increase of 13.9 to 14 per cent.

And there is every reason to believe that at the end of the fiscal year the receipts of the Atlanta postoffice will pass the million-dollar mark.

Notice to Fat Women. Presumably you know, ladies, that the proper caper nowadays is lines. Curves are passe. You have got to take off your fat. This must be done in one of three ways. By dieting, by exercises, or by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. The two former will keep you and your figure in a punishment pretty severely, the latter will cost you 75 cents at the drug-gists. The tablets will not make any alteration in your diet, necessary, and yet in all probability, before you have used up one case, you will be losing from 12 to 16 ounces of fat a day. Which method do you like the best?

If you fancy this pleasant method of getting off the fat, see your druggist instantly, or else write the Marmola Co., 287 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., to send you a case by mail. These cases contain so generous a quantity of tablets that the treatment is very economical. It is, also, quite harmless, for the tablets are made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription.

EXPECT SHAKE-UP IN POLICE FORCE

At Rome When the New Administration Takes Office.

Rome, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—A shake-up in the city police force is expected when the new city administration takes office on April 1. It is believed that Chief Charles L. Harris will be re-elected, but a number of the patrolmen who were politically active against the winning ticket may not be retained.

For city treasurer several of the banks of the city will make the race. Judge Max Meyerhardt, former grand master of Georgia Masons, will be a candidate for city attorney. The present recorder, J. H. Spullock, will be opposed by R. L. Chamblee, former representative of Floyd county in the Georgia legislature, and brother of a prominent Chattahoochee attorney. City Clerk J. R. Cantrell, City Tax Receiver George S. Reese, City Auditor M. F. Govan, Sanitary Inspector Bryan and City Physician J. C. Watts will probably be re-elected without opposition.

A caucus to select these officials will be held during the coming week.

CEMETERY ROAD WON BY FRAUD?

That Charge Made in Fight Against Plan.

Petition in the Superior Court and Petition to County Board Both Allege That Right to Open Road Was Obtained by Fraud.

Two other moves were yesterday made in the fight against the establishment of the proposed cemetery on Peachtree road. An amendment asking the cancellation of the deed given by John W. Collier to John T. Schley to that tract of land formerly a portion of the Collier estate, was filed in the superior court. At the same time a petition to the county commissioners was filed, asking that the permission granted to Schley to open a road from Peachtree road to the Plaster Bridge road, be revoked. Both papers were filed through John L. Hopkins & Sons. The paper filed in the superior court is an amendment to the petition for an injunction which was filed more than a week ago. In the original petition, no request for the cancellation of the deed by which Schley came into possession of a portion of the Collier estate was made. It is for the purpose of incorporating this request and a number of minor matters in the original petition that the amendment was filed.

The reason assigned for the desired setting aside of the deed now held by Schley and his associates is that the document was obtained by fraud. Schley, it is alleged, was acting as agent for the American Securities Company, of Mobile, his sole purpose being to secure the tract of land in order to obtain a driveway to and from the proposed cemetery. The deed, it is set out, contains the specific stipulation that the property should be used for building purposes alone, and that the title should be held in fee simple, but a number of the allegations, the deed should be declared null and void.

The petition to the county commissioners asking the revocation of the permission to open a road from Peachtree road to the Plaster Bridge road sets out that the signatures of the residents of that district who signed the petition for fraud. Schley represented to the signers, it is alleged, as well as to the members of the board, that he wished to open the road for the purpose of legitimately developing the property, while his real object was simply to obtain a road leading to the cemetery.

"I am only too glad to give you my privilege of printing my testimony, if it will induce any suffering woman to try your wonderful medicine. He said that if the park was improved as a pleasure resort the street-car company would build another line to the park by way of Stewart avenue."

CITY AND COUNTY OFFICERS FIGHT

General Melee Winds Up Swainsboro Carnival.

Arrest of Negro by a County Officer Leads to Interference From Other Officers—No Arrests Made, There Being No Arresting Officer.

Swainsboro, Ga., March 1.—(Special.)—This city has again settled down into "the even tenor of its way," after a week of dissipation in a street carnival, the last remnant of which left early this morning.

As a grand finale to this week's entertainment, the peace officers of the city and of the county engaged in a general melee among themselves on Saturday night, during the last acts of the carnival. Green McLendon, deputy sheriff, it is stated, was attempting to arrest a negro, who resisted, and he was knocking him about. The city marshal, F. A. Curl, thinking McLendon was drinking and trying to pick a fuss with the negro, ran up and caught the deputy sheriff in the collar. At this juncture, another county officer, a deputy, ran up and knocked Curl down, and into the conflict came the sheriff and his brother for the protection of the sheriff's subordinate. No pistols were fired, but some of the combatants came out of the conflict with bloody heads and the victors to the carnival hastened home with undue haste. No arrests were made, as there was no arresting officer of the county who was not engaged in this little comedy, which might have resulted seriously if a pistol had been fired, for they were numerous present.

WILSON IN CHARGE OF COMMERCIAL AGENCY

S. W. Wilson, who has been traveling freight agent of the Philadelphia and Reading railway, with headquarters in Atlanta during the past five and a half years, has been promoted to commercial freight agent of the same line, effective March 1, with office at 407 Equitable building. Mr. Wilson, while representing an eastern line, is an Atlanta boy, having been born in this city, and the creation of a commercial agency by the Philadelphia and Reading railway shows that they realize the growing importance of Atlanta and the south. Mr. Wilson will look after north and south-bound business to and from the entire south, the Philadelphia and Reading making a specialty of car-load business to and from eastern cities.

ANOTHER RAINY DAY, BUT SPRING IS HERE

Today's Dampness Expected to Disappear by Tomorrow. Cold Weather Gone.

Another rainy day, at least one of occasional showers—that's today, according to the weather man's prediction. It will hardly be as bad as yesterday, but umbrellas and rubbers will be in season, nevertheless. However, the weather man promises fair weather.

THE GOPHER DREW ONE.

er tomorrow, which ought to help some.

The witness which made yesterday disagreeable and prompt to turn the same trick today is general throughout the south. A barometric depression which is centered over the Mississippi valley is responsible for the general precipitation of sky juice which comes from the Gulf. During Monday night and yesterday one-fourth of an inch of rain was precipitated upon Atlanta and the vicinity.

For the first time in a number of weeks, there is no unusually cold weather to be found in any portion of the country. Even in the Rocky Mountain regions, where "20 below" is nothing uncommon, the mercury is above the freezing point, except in the extreme northern portion. And even there, it is much warmer than it has been for more than two months.

There is no cold weather in sight, the weather man announces. The sun is now getting too high up for any very low temperatures this far south, and after the present wet spell has run its course, ideal spring weather is billed to put in an appearance.

"Some class to this fob, eh, old chap?" said The Gopher. "There ought to be, though, for there's class to the fellow that made me a present of it."

"It's one of the souvenirs the White Provision Company is going to give away at their reception tomorrow. You know, they're going to invite a bunch of people out to their place at the Miller Union Stock Yards for the purpose of having them look over the plant, just to show them how they're prepared to handle hogs, cows, sheep and all the rest in first-class shape. They say they're going to turn out hams better than the kind 'father used to make.' That'll be going a few, won't it?"

ONE of the most modern and up-to-date stores in city. Near Trinity avenue. Let us show this to you.

LIEBMAN, Real Estate and Renting, 17 Walton Street.

MORRIS & ASBURY, Real Estate and Loans, 525 Empire Building, Main 2673; Atlanta 1118.

$12,500

WE ARE OFFERING one of the best apartment sites ever offered in the city at the above sacrifice price; this has a big 2-story house on it now, renting for $85 per month; the lot is big enough to roll the home back and put your apartment in front. Big bargain, here. Can fix terms.

PEACHTREE STREET.

WE ARE SATISFIED that every foot of ground this side of Baker street will be selling for $1,000 per foot, and at this time we know of but one place that can be bought at any price. We have the Langston property, which is between Baker and Harris streets; it fronts Peachtree street 100 feet, and runs back 200 feet; this can be cut into 50-foot lots, which could be sold at a handsome profit. Our price is only $90,000, on very attractive terms. Let us talk this over with you.
